CHILLED BEEF TRADE WITH GREAT BRITAIN OFFERS BIG-PROFIT

Addressing the members of the Canadian Manufacturer's Association at luncheon at Toronto, Ben. H. Morgan, chairman of the council of British Empire Producers' Association, said he had found a pronounced feeling in Western Canada against the British embargo on livestock.

There seemed to be a notion that the embargo was directed against Canada solely, but that was not the case. All cattle of the world, he said, are barred from England and not only cattle but all livestock. The lifting of the embargo would not help Canada in the end. Mr. Morgan continued: "What I have impressed upon your cattle breeders is that they can help and lift up Canada by a chilled meat trade far more than by a livestock trade with the Mother Country. You have all the facilities to do an enormous business in chilled meats; the abattoirs, cold storage plants, and the transportation lines. There is no use in your saying that you can give us cheap live cattle for you cannot do it. At present transportation charges you can ship four dressed beefs to England for the price of one live animal. You can have beef on sale in our country 12 days after it is killed in Winnipeg. There is no other country in the world can do it. And you have a market in England that can absorb all you can produce for the next ten or fifteen years. That is the line of business I have advised your farmers to take."

LOCAL NOTES

Farmers: Time is money. When you bring in a load of grain haul out a load of lumber or coal from the Atlas Lumber Co.

Prosperity has returned: Note the grain trucks, full of grain coming in late in the evening and the elevator men working after dark.

Quite a nice crowd attended the anniversary celebration held by the members of the Rebekah degree at their hall last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Pawling are preparing to move to Edmonton on Thursday where Mr. Pawling will resume his studies at the University.

In reference to the prize list for the school fair, we learn that in each class entries in section one will complete only against such as are by pupils in the same school. This was omitted from the prize lists by an oversight.

Mr. Fred Gordon, while carrying his painter's ladders in the rear end of his Ford became entangled in the wire fence in front of the Little residence, breaking off four posts, and wrecking the fence. It did not appear to do much damage to the Henry wagon.

Mr. Julius Springer who has been at Chinook, Alta., threshing for the past few weeks, has returned and reports that threshing will be finished there very shortly.

ANNOUNCING WINNER OF THE W. I. QUILT

The drawing for the W. I. quilt, which took place on Wednesday last resulted as follows: 1st. No. 171; 2nd. 356; 3rd. 417; 4th. 273; 5th. 357. The first draw is the winner if the quilt is claimed within one week, after which the next number will hold good for the same period. At the end of the second week if the prize is not, then claimed the third number will get it—and so on. The quilt is at the home of Mrs. Middleton.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. Frederick Ganderton and family wish to thank all (town and country people alike) for the kind expressions of sympathy and floral offerings extended to them in the loss they have sustained in the death of a dearly loved wife and mother.

WHY THE PRAIRIES ARE TREELESS

It is impossible to say what the exact causes are which operating for centuries, have produced this result (lack of trees on the prairie) but it is generally thought by those who have given some attention to the subject, that a large part of what is now prairie was not originally so; in fact there is direct evidence to show that at least some districts which are now treeless were originally well timbered. Undoubtedly the chief agency which little by little has caused the destruction of the one-time area is the frequently recurring prairie fire. It is well known to prairie fire. It is well known to well timbered. From this it would seem that had fires not been so prevalent in the past, the timbered areas would be much more extensive than they are at present.

The fact still remains however, that there are immense tracts of land absolutely treeless which can only be utilized to their fullest advantage after a certain measure of protection is afforded by the presence of belts or plantations of trees. ### W. W. YEAGER IS ELECTED TO VACANT TOWN COUNCIL SEAT

The office of returning officer was truly a sinecure on Thursday when Mr. H. Pawling sat to receive nominations to fill the vacancy on the Town Council caused by the resignation of Councillor Dewar.

There was only one name placed in nomination—that of Mr. W. W. Yeager—and at the appointed hour the returning officer declared this gentleman elected to the vacant seat on the Council by acclamation.

Mr. Yeager was nominated and seconded by Councillor Davison and Fish respectively, and the other names on the nomination paper were Messrs G. E. Harper, Quin Hall, J. H. Dawson, A. C. Armstrong, H. C. Montgomery, J. R. Mader, S. R. Bowerman, A. E. Mills, H. P. May, Mrs. A. Johns, Mrs. Jacob Gehring, G. T. Steel, J. Wilkins, H. V. Fieldhouse, Adeline O. Lasell, S. Lewthwaite, M. L. Foster and H. W. McLeod.

CROSSING THE BAR

MARY GANDERTON.

It is our sad duty this week to record the death of Mary, the beloved wife of Mr. Fred Ganderton, who passed away at the family residence a few miles from town on Wednesday last at the age of 48 years, nephritis being the immediate cause of her demise.

The deceased lady was ill for only a few days before her passing away, and leaves to mourn their loss a stricken husband and son to whom the sympathy of the whole community is extended.

The funeral was held on Friday at the house, Rev. N. Priestley being conducting the last sad rites, a very large number being present both there and at the Wainwright cemetery to pay their last respects. Many beautiful floral offerings marked the esteem in which the deceased lady was held.

ORRIN COFIELD

There passed away on Tuesday last at the tender age of four years and eight months, Baby Orrin Cofield the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cofield.

The little fellow had been a sufferer for some time with meningitis, and to this disease he ultimately succumbed. The funeral took place at Wainwright cemetery on Wednesday, Rev. N. Priestley officiating, a large number of sympathizers joining the cortege and many tributes of flowers being laid on the little grave.

The Bloomington Valley U. F. W. A. held their last two meetings at the homes of Mrs. M. J. and Mrs. J. G. Golding, these taking the form of a sewing circle for the purpose of piecing a quilt. The members of this local show a lively interest as there is always a good turnout of members who are ever busy planning new things for the future.

REBEKAHS HOLD A VERY SUCCESSFUL WHIST DRIVE PARTY

For the purpose of raising funds to wipe off the debt on their lodge piano. The members of Adeline Rebekah lodge, I.O.O.F., held a truly successful whist party on Thursday evening last at which a real crowd had an enjoyable time.

There were in all some two dozen tables in play and the committees all worked so harmoniously together that every person present was made to feel perfectly at home.

Fairly high scores were made for the prizes for both ladies and gentlemen, and those who carried away the coveted gifts were Mesdames McLeod, Phelps and Armstrong, and Messrs Richardson, Ward and Coleman.

During an interval Miss M. Limpert and Mrs. J. Telford rendered piano selections, and at the close refreshments were served.

CATTLE NUISANCE

Is it not very near time that something was done to stop the cursed nuisance with the cattle in this town and the principle of them belonging to those in a position to keep them enclosed. What with them destroying the gardens, breaking down the fences, the clomping of their bells all night and filthy condition they make the sidewalks in it's a perfect disgrace to the place; besides the annoyance to sick people by breaking their rest.

CHARLES REDGWELL.

WHY THE HIGH PRICES?

Editor "Star",

Will you permit me a little space in your paper in which to give my opinion on a subject of interest to all, namely the reduction of wages in its relation to the high cost of living. Workmen are having their wages cut down, retailers have all materially reduced the price of their goods, farmers are down to a dead level for their produce and yet for the man who has to pay for his meals in hotel or cafe the cost of living is still at a sadward pitch. Farmers have to submit to having their products reduced in price, but they would like to see the workman get some benefit from the reduction.

There was a time when the twenty-five cent meal held sway and it could well be afforded now with fair profit to our celestial friends and for if they could keep in business while the war was on at present prices surely they are making unfair profits now.

With beef at six cents a pound by the quarter and all other meats a drug on the market potatoes plentiful and cheap, eggs thirty cents a dozen, butter thirty-five cents a pound, and every thing cheaper still to the buyer of large quantities, the price of a meal should be materially lowered.

A long winter is ahead with lots of men out of work and short of funds so pressure should be exerted to cause the dispenser of meals to reduce his prices. The food-stuffs are not costing as much and he is no better than others to take less for his labor both reduce in proportion and neither lose anything.

Sunny Alberta

OUR PROVINCE, OUR HOME AND OUR HOPE.

Any citizen in Alberta might well be pardoned for brooding about the greatness of the future of the foothills province. It does not appear to make much difference what is the point of view from which the province is considered. Agriculturally its soil is among the best in Canada. It is in Canada the last remaining ground for the picturesque cowboy. Beneath its rich dark soil, Mother Nature has stored away a large portion of the coal reserves of the world—more than one million million tons—some of it in the form of bituminous and lignite. During the last few years men and women in sections far from Sunny Alberta have smiled themselves to sleep with a vision of wealth pouring towards them from the deep holes in the earth. The line separates our country from that of our cousins of the American republic, to that other survey line that divides Alberta from the Territories. Why should the fortunate resident of the province NOT dream indeed?

Alberta, in point of days, is twin to Saskatchewan, for these two political divisions of the Dominion were elevated to provincehood on the same date, September 1st, 1905. Four years before that to Albertans—significant time, the federal census enumerators had set down the names of 23,023 as representing the entire population of the lands now set apart as Alberta. These were divided: 52,399 rural and 20,623 town dwellers. Ten years later it was a greatly differing story by census told. There were 180,327 more farm folk and 121,314 more city and town folk. The census men for 1921 have not divulged the secrets their lists tell as regards the present population, but it has been rumoured abroad that the total population that will be credited to the province is in the neighborhood of six hundred thousand.

The increase in production has marched in step with that of population. In 1919 there were 8,170,971 acres seeded to farm crops and the value of the produce resulting was $149,580,800. In that year there were in that fourteen-year-old province, 800,380 horses, 1,384,044 cattle, 364,498 sheep, 443,858 swine and 442,375 poultry. In 1918, the province led its two sister provinces to the immediate east with a production of creamery butter valued at $4,025,851. These unmistakable evidences of a vast amount of energy expended in Canada's basic industry in the shadow of the Rockies, excuse the glow of enthusiasm that lights the countenance of the reflecting Albertan when he discusses the position of his province with Canadians from beyond its borders.

Alberta has in connection with the distribution of products destined to lands beyond the sea—been compared both favorably and unfavorably, with its two prairie sister provinces. If the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence were its only outlet, Alberta might declare its advantages in other particulars in vain. Its brother agriculturists in Saskatchewan and Manitoba would smilingly point out the extra distance to be covered by the cereals and other products from the fertile lands immediately to the eastward of the great mountain barrier, and would consider the discussion as closed. But another factor must be taken into consideration in connection with the shipments from Alberta. The Pacific with big ports ice-free all the year round, is but some seven or eight hundred miles to the westward. Test shipments have proved that wheat may be transported through the Panama Canal in bulk without damage, and the grades of the railways crossing the mountains—the Canadian National through the Yellowhead Pass at any rate—offer no obstacles to be regarded as important. The provision of proper facilities at the Pacific seaboard for the handling of the grain in quantity, is necessary, but it is incidental to the surety that the chief export commodity from the prairie provinces can be handled by that route. If export commodities from the east of the Rockies in the west do seek the Pacific outlet to a marked extent, the insistence of the designers of the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific lines which reach Vancouver and Prince Rupert upon easy grades and alignment, will be proved to have been completely justified. There is one short grade of one percent eastbound on the G. T. P. near the Pass, and one of seven-tenths of one percent on the Canadian Northern line to the south and west of the Yellowhead gateway. Westbound the maximum is five-tenths on the C. N. R. and four-tenths on the G. T. P. Such grades as these one would expect to meet with in Ontario or on the Prairies themselves and not the towering mountain barrier as formidable as that of the Rocky Mountains. But the easy grades through British Columbia are an engineering fact nevertheless. The Canadian Pacific, according to the elevators listed by the Commission of Conservation, crosses the mountains at heights calling for a maximum grade of 2.2%. Although our route is longer, the advantages rest with the C. N. R. lines in the handling of Albertan tonnage to the Pacific and vice versa, see has obvious to require further elaboration here.

LATEST FARM MACHINE

The latest in farm implements is a combination binder and threshing machine. A demonstration was given near Toronto the other day in a field of barley. The machine drawn by a tractor and operated by a 27 horse-power motor cuts a 12-foot swath, forces the cut grain into a miniature threshing outfit, and puts the cleaned, threshed grain into one bag and the screenings into another.

LOCAL NOTES

Messrs Cranston and Gordanier have returned to Kingston, Ont., after visiting with Mr. and Mrs. F. Aykroyd on the farm.

From what we learn the "Rest room" of the U. F. W. A. in town is to be moved to a new location owing to the sale of the lot upon which it is erected, and which lot is the property of the ratepayers.

We understand that Mr. F. Aykroyd is busy on the erection of a new house on his farm south of town.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Roy, of Chauvin were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. W. Goulet.

Thomson Fish has finished the installation of the new furnace in the Wainwright Pharmacy, and the way that "Bob" roasts his shins now isn't slow.

Seeing that the wet spell still continues, it might be well for our farmers to do some stacking. Save worrying while waiting for the threshers anyway!

Do you know what constitutes a strong constitution?

To have sound, healthy nerves, completely under control, digestive organs that are capable of absorbing a hearty meal, means you have a strong constitution. Your general attitude is one of optimism and energy.

But an irritable disposition, frequent attacks of indigestion, and a languid depression, indicate your system is not in correct working order.

Probably you are not eating the proper food. Probably the nutritious elements are not being supplied to your system in the proper way.

Grape-Nuts is the wholesome, delicious cereal that promotes normal digestion, absorption and elimination, whereby nourishment is accomplished without auto-intoxication. A mixture of energy-giving wheat and malted barley comprise the chief elements of Grape-Nuts. A dish at breakfast or lunch is an excellent, wholesome rule to follow.

You can order Grape-Nuts at any and every hotel, restaurant, and lunch room; on dining cars, on lake boats and steamers; in every good grocery, large and small, in every city, town or village in Canada.

For School Luncheon

BY LORETTA C. LYNCH
An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

With the approaching return to school there arises the problem of the school lunch box. The shops are showing a variety of attractive boxes. Some have an attractive bottle of the three-fourth pint size.

The hot-cold bottle might contain some cocoa made with good milk. Again, while the days are still warm, it may contain some nourishing ice cream to be eaten with a piece of real sponge cake.

Besides the hot dish, of course, the average hungry boy and girl wants to find something else. A roll thickly spread with butter after it is cut, and the parts firmly pressed together should be substituted frequently for the crustless sandwich. The crust on the roll induces mastication, which not only aids digestion, but also helps toward good teeth.

The sandwich is one of the convenient ways of serving food in a lunch box. The bread should be at least a day old and should be close-grained. Cut it thin and butter it before spreading the filling. Butter contains a growth-producing element quite necessary to a child's diet.

Generally speaking, it is better to mince meat or poultry, or fish before using it as a filling. It takes but a moment to run a piece of roast beef through the food chopper. Ham being difficult of digestion is not to be highly recommended for the school lunch box.

Used at all, save it for the occasional surprise to be mixed perhaps with minced egg. The fillings to be recommended are cottage cheese made from sour milk, the commercial cream cheese, or the less rich Neuchâtel cheese. A little finely divided "store" cheese may be used from time to time as a sandwich filling. It should never be served sliced through the bread as it is quite difficult of digestion, especially for children.

Avoid condiments and spices for school lunch boxes. A little onion juice will often give flavor where it seems lacking. Salt, of course, is allowable.

A sweet filling of some kind such as jam or chopped dates or figs or fruit paste containing some ground nut meats are desirable. Fruit, such as an orange or an apple, are always acceptable. Cookies, too, and occasionally a single piece of candy afford variety and surprise.

The housewife should endeavor to plan the contents of the lunch box on paper. It is easier than the hit-and-miss way. Waxed paper as well as paper napkins should always be on hand.

Try planning better lunches for the children who must carry lunches to school. You will see a general all-round improvement in the children.

Manitoba Butter

Awarded Highest Score in Contest For Last Four Months.

In the Dominion Government Educational Butter Scoring contest which has been going on for the past four months, Manitoba has achieved the distinction of the highest average score for the four months, namely 96.7. Alberta comes second with 96.1; Quebec third with 96, and Saskatchewan fourth with 94.7.

Only one creamery from each province is allowed to compete each month. Twice in the four months Manitoba has headed the list. In May the Shalag Creamery won with a score of 97 out of a possible 100.

In August the Crescent Pure Milk Company won, with a score of 96.7. In June Russell, Manitoba, tied for second place with New Brunswick, with a score of 96.8 and in July St. Boniface was third with a score of 96.7.

Alberta has the distinction of making the highest score for any one month, namely, 98 out of 100, for July.

It is very interesting to note how close the scores are coming. In May the scored, Alberta came second with 96.7, eighth prize butter was 3.3; in June it was 3.8; in July it was 4.8, and in August 4.8. This closeness of scoring indicates how uniform the butter of Canada is becoming. Uniformity in quality and steadiness of supply are two of the prime requisites in building up an export trade. ## A Novel Sport Coat

By Marie Belmont.

The sport coat appears in many a different guise, for it has various functions to fulfill. Sometimes it is demanded by the woman who goes in strenuously for athletics, or it may be worn by the one who watches the players. This rather redolent model belongs to the latter class. It is made of yellow flannel. The fronts, which are extended as the sides to form pockets, are outlined with bands of black crepe. The cuffs are similarly adorned. The collar is high and is enriched with black wool embroidery. This also appears on the sleeves, which are very wide.

WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Mrs. W. Beesley, Millie Roche, Ont., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past eight months and would not be without them. I used them for indigestion and feeling unwell and my baby is cutting his teeth without any trouble whatever. I can highly recommend the Tablets to other mothers." What Mrs. Beesley says thousands of other mothers say. The Tablets are mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach, thus driving out constipation and indigestion and making feeding easy. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Patriotic Fund Still Busy.

The Patriotic Fund of Saskatchewan is still busy and during the twelve month period ending May 31st last, the branch of the fund in this province disbursed $613,350. Post discharge grants amounting to $90,732 made up the biggest single item in the expenditure.

TOO ILL TO GO TO SCHOOL

Mother Tells how Daughter Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cobourg, Ont.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was the only thing that did it for my daughter. She had trouble every month which left her in a weak and nervous condition. She began taking the Vegetable Compound and in a few days she was all right. She had these troubles for three years and frequently was unable to attend school. She has become regular and feels much better since she began taking the Vegetable Compound and attends school regularly. She is gaining weight and I have no hesitation in recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine."—Mrs. J. J. Gilling & Co., Cobourg, Ont.

Standing all day, or sitting in cramped positions, young girls contract deranged conditions, and develop headaches, backache, irregularities, nervousness and head-down and all of which are symptoms of woman's ills. Every mother who has a daughter suffering from such symptoms should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

Canada's Lakes

Ontario Has Largest Area With Northwest Territories Second.

The lakes of Canada have an area of 37,891,304 acres, or 120,924 square miles, which is almost one-half the area of the Yukon Territory. Ontario contains the largest lake area, namely 41,188 square miles. Half of the area of the Great Lakes, with the exception of Lake Michigan, is in Ontario.

Manitoba has a lake area of 19,894 square miles. The largest lakes are: Winnipeg, 9,459 square miles; Winnipegosis, 2,086; Manitoba, 1,817; South Indian, 1,531.

The area of Saskatchewan is 8,329 square miles, the two largest areas being part of Reindeer Lake, 2,302 square miles, and part of Athabasca Lake, 1,801.

The largest single lake area in Alberta is the part of Lake Athabasca lying within that province, namely, 1,401 square miles. This with the part in the province of Saskatchewan gives the lake an area of 2,842 square miles. The lake area of the province is 2,360 square miles.

The lake area of British Columbia is 2,439 square miles. The largest single lake is part of Lake Atlin, 331 square miles. The next largest is Lake Babine, 306 square miles.

The Northwest Territories have a lake area second only to that of Ontario, namely, 34,521 square miles. The largest lake is the Great Bear, 11,821 square miles; second, the Great Slave, 10,719 square miles.

Predicts His Own Death

M. Clemenceau Says He Will Be Dead Next Year.

"Next year I shall be dead," was the reply M. Clemenceau growled out when, at Marseilles someone expressed the hope that he would return there next year.

The old man was just about to embark on a steamship for Corsica, where he was going to spend a holiday, when he made this prophecy.

He looked and stepped as young as ever, and those who have seen him recently since his annual "cure" at Vichy, declare that he never looked better.

But his years seemed to be oppressive him. At the hotel where he lunched the head waiter with pride brought him some Chateaufort to taste after his meal.

"Well, I have been eighty years in the bottle," he grumbled back, "and am none the better for that."

It was after that incident that he predicted his death by next year.

Britain Leads As Usual

The Merchant Marine of United States Comes Second.

The Merchant Marine of the United States is falling far short of receiving its share of United States ocean freight, according to the Federal Reserve Board's survey of the shipping situation during August.

Latest figures, the board declared, showed the United States, with a fleet of 17,630,000 gross tons out of a world total of 61,974,653 tons, was slightly surpassed by Great Britain with a fleet of 19,571,554 tons, while France stood third with 3,652,249 tons.

Japan, Italy, Norway and Holland followed in the order named with merchant marine fleets ranging from about 3,350,000 tons down to 2,225,000.

Was Flat On His Back In Bed A Whole Month, Declares Thompson

"The very first few doses of Tanlac I took made me feel better, and now my stomach seems just like a new one," said Samuel Thompson, 172 Peters ave., Winnipeg, Man.

"I was in very bad shape before I got Tanlac. My health broke down a year ago, and I got to where I was little more than a physical wreck. I was flat on my back in bed for a month, and when I got up the life of me seemed to be gone. I hardly had strength enough to get around, and my appetite was very poor. I soon commenced suffering from indigestion so bad I just hated the thought of eating, for my food soured and I was kept bloated and in agony all the time. I finally started taking Tanlac, however, and by the time I had finished my second bottle I was eating heartily. I've taken five bottles now and can eat and enjoy anything I want and feel as well as I ever did in my life. I am glad to recommend Tanlac, as I believe it will help anyone suffering from stomach trouble."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Canada's Soap Factories

Fourteen Millions Each Year For Soap Is Canada's Bill.

According to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Canada spends fourteen millions of dollars a year on soap. Of the 28 plants engaged in this industry, 13 are located in Ontario. During the year reported, over one hundred million pounds of soap was manufactured in Canada, and the quantity sold by the producers was worth over $13,000,000. In addition there was imported a million dollars' worth of soap made in other countries. Exports amounted to only slightly over $100,000.

M. S. Drednought, the battleship which revolutionized naval warfare, has been sold to shipbreakers for $44,000. The great ship, now out of date, is at Royston. ## Germans Are Workers

People Realize That Nothing But Work Will Re-establish Nation.

We shall need an Ambassador in Germany who has eyes that see and a brain that can understand that country and a tongue that can speak its language. Germany is setting a pace industrially and in general activity that has no counterpart in the world today.

Her recovery from chaotic after-war conditions, the output of her industries and the measures of world trade she has already regained have no parallel.

The reason for these achievements rests with her people. They are workers. They know that if the Fatherland ever pays its colossal indemnity and re-establishes itself as a free and independent nation among the nations of the world, work alone can accomplish it; intense, unsparring work. And these German people are bending their backs to the task, uncompromisingly and with a will to surmount all obstacles.

To this field of regeneration and vast outreach for industrial world supremacy America would better send an Ambassador at all than to send a man incapable of understanding her economic strides and her vibrant business activity in every phase of her weakened life.—From the New York Sun.

EMPIRE EDUCATION

Professor Caldwell, of McGill University, speaking in London, urged that the British Commonwealth should get to know the Dominions better, and that the Homeland must be prepared to give an intelligent lead to the Dominions.

This is a sound suggestion, but the next inquiry is how knowledge is to be extended. Two useful, if restricted, methods have already been devised. The Rhodes' scholarships have been helpful in a limited way in diffusing knowledge of the Mother Country in the Dominions. The exchange of school teachers is a practical application of the idea.

It is a fact that the people of the Dominions have a more general knowledge of what transpires in Great Britain than the British people have of the overseas portions of the Empire. The news of the United Kingdom that is published in the press of Canada limited as it is much more extensive than the news of Canada that is printed in England. In each country the quantity of news published pertaining to the other could be enlarged with benefit to each.

The "movies" which have been censured of late for showing much that is trashy, are to be commended for their enterprise in showing us views of English activities and many views of the beautiful country side of the Old Land. Such a small percentage of the population of Canada and of the British Isles have the time and opportunity to travel that their knowledge of the Empire must be second-hand gained from others who have lived abroad, or from books or pictures. The pictures of Old-World events that are thrown on the screen hold the interest of "movie" patrons of all ages. We understand that managers have had ample evidence of their value. Next to seeing the actual scene, the moving picture of it makes the most lasting impression on the memory. An Imperial series of films, prepared as were the war-films, and distributed in all parts of the Empire, would prove useful and stimulating in telling the story of the material advancement and the beauties of the far-flung British Empire.

DEBT AS A LEVER

The "Anti-waste" clamor in England had grown to such volume that the government could no longer disregard it and therefore appointed a committee corresponding to the Dawes budget committee in the United States, to prune expenditures in all departments.

While this committee's work was still in progress, the British government astonished the country by announcing a new sequence of warships, the first to consist of four Dreadnoughts. The total bill will be about thirty million pounds and the whole liability for the proposed programme will be approximately two hundred million pounds.

This decision has caused an angry demonstration in the United Kingdom, which was to be expected. Its reception in the United States has been even more striking.

There is felt that the British naval outlay is directly contrary to the hopes entertained for the coming disarmament conference. The Americans have been building upon this conference with their characteristic enthusiasm and confidence. They regard it as their own scheme as it largely is, and as their diplomatic contribution to the welfare of the world in the years to come. The Americans are worshippers of success. They want their important conference to be a success.

They do not regard the British action as contributing to this success, and they go so far as to hint at applying pressure not alone to Britain but to other nations as well to enforce disarmament.

This suggestion is not as unreasonable as it sounds. The knotty problem of inter-allied indebtedness has not yet been solved. England has expressed her willingness to agree to an all-round settlement of this indebtedness, by which she would reduce or cancel what is owing to her by France and Italy, provided the United States would agree to similar procedure in regard to the British debt to America. Nothing has come from this proposal, but in the meantime negotiations which Britain and the United States had been conducting respecting postponement of the interest on the funding of Britain's debt to the United States were postponed. The whole question of funding the Allied debts to the United States is to be reopened about the time the Washington Conference meets, according to a recent statement by the American Secretary of the Treasury, and it may be at this time that these debts will be used as a lever to enforce limitation of armaments among the European powers.

Senator Borah has said: "I would not fund this debt until after the disarmament parley is concluded. If Allied governments are unable to meet their foreign debts as they say, and yet continue to spend the vast sums on armaments they are now spending, I should certainly feel that the American people are justified in insisting that they promptly meet their debts."

Senator Borah maintains with considerable strength that huge expenditures by France and England on naval and army upkeep cannot be defended while no danger is in sight and while the nations named cannot find money with which to pay off their debts. In effect, he argues American taxpayers are carrying the burdens of French and British armaments in addition to their own.

The debt will assuredly play an important part at the Washington conference. The American delegates will undoubtedly use it, as an argument for reduction in expenditure on armaments which will enable the governments affected to pay their debts to the United States and put the world back on its feet.

great resource in Alberta, and like agriculture, it is a resource that has been as yet scarcely tapped in the province. Geologists measure the potential destructiveness of the fuel that lies under the fertile soil in the foothill country in divisions that pile millions on top of millions. It is of five classifications: Anthracite, semi-anthracite, bituminous, sub-bituminous and lignite, with the balance tipping in favor of the two last named, but no one as yet is quite sure that all the anthracite deposits of the province have been prospected. Certain it is that there are resources in coal in Alberta to warm homes and feed the boilers of factories and locomotives in Canada for a long period of years. Time was, in the vision of the geologists when a shallow sea of brackish water spread over all the lands in the central west of North America, from the Arctic Circle to the Gulf of Mexico, with luxuriant vegetation fringing its western margin. As the ages rolled into eternity, the waters passed out and the vegetation began its slow natural transformation into the fuel that is such a helpmate in modern civilization. That forest among the trees of which the dinosaurs roamed, the ruins of pre-historic time roamed, must have been of vast dimensions. The federal authorities, to whose lot it falls to catalogue the resources of coal in the Dominion, estimate that there repose today in Alberta boundaries more than a trillion tons. Its value would, of course, be difficult to complete, for who, in these times, would care to say what the price fuel will be some hundreds of years hence.

In Manitoba and Saskatchewan but little coal is known to exist so that the inhabitants of the great plains of these two provinces are naturally, purchasers of the product of the Albertan mines. They were, however, not always the great customers they are at the present time. Coming, as they did many of them at least, from the eastern provinces, and from the United States, the anthracite of Pennsylvania to which they had been accustomed was the fuel they sought to warm their homes during the long cold winters that prevail upon the prairies. This coal came by freight up the lakes to St. Arthur and Ft. William. The railways established coal docks at those points for its storage, and moved it west as market conditions demanded. The war, which changed so many trade movements altered that one also. It became necessary to restrict the anthracite in this country. The production from the mines in Alberta was speeded up to provide sufficient tonnage, and the authorities in Saskatchewan and Manitoba conducted a campaign of education for the benefit of the furnace tenders. Except for

Economical Grain Hauling

J. G. Yeager, Esq.
Ford Dealer

Humboldt Sask

Dear Sir:

I have now operated the Ford Truck I purchased from you in 1918 two seasons, and am pleased to give you some information regarding its performance. I live 20 miles from town, and made three trips per day, carrying on an average of 55 bushels of wheat per load. I kept track of the gas and oil consumed, and found that a tank of gas or 8 gallons, made three round trips, thus giving an average of 15 miles per gallon. It required about 3 pints of cylinder oil for the round trips, or 120 miles. I found it far more economical to operate the truck than to use horses. It might be interesting for you to know that I hauled 8,000 bushels of grain in 1918 and 5,000 in 1919.

Yours truly,

Mike Hoffner.

FARMERS' OUTLAY IN HIS IMPLEMENTS WORTH WATCHING

Winter is for most farmers a season in which there is comparatively little outdoor work. There is, however, always work of some kind for the energetic man on the farm. The care and protection of his investment in implements should be one of his important duties. By this care, not only can he prolong their usefulness, but he can save considerable time. It is of paramount importance that implements and tools, when required for use, be in condition for satisfactory service. Especially at harvest time, it may be a matter of hours to get the crop secured, and it is then that the results of care and inspection are apparent.

Machinery consists of fixed and moving parts, and it is necessary for their successful operation that they remain in this condition. Use however, causes vibration, which tends to loosen and wear bolts and other parts of machines. An inspection will discover where these are and nuts may be tightened and worn parts renewed; these, if neglected till the machines are required, may cause the loss of valuable days thru the loss of bolts or nuts, or while new parts are secured. All moving metal parts should be covered with vaseline or other grease to protect from rust and consequent increased friction in operation.

It is a good plan to have on hand an assortment of bolts, nuts, screws and cotter-pins, as well as wrenches, especially socket wrenches and extensions. A surprising number of bolts and nuts are put in the most difficult places to get at, and if proper wrenches are not available, many delays result.
